Words of Wise Wisdom.

When you want work, do you ask for it, or do you try to hide away from it? Do you go where work is to be had, or where there isn't any?

When you advertise for work, do you advertise where nobody expects you to, or where the people who want work done always look for help?

Virginian-Pilot want columns are the recognized go-between of those who want and those who want to fill wants.

THE HAGUE CONFERENCE.

SCHEME FOR MEDIATION AND ARBITRATION CONVENTION DISCUSSED.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

The Hague, July 7.—The third committee, sitting this morning at the Huis Ten Bosch, discussed the scheme for the mediation and arbitration convention drawn up by the Comité d'Examen. Many of the delegates have only been acquainted with the proposals since yesterday, and they have not had time to consult their governments. Consequently it has been decided that when the committee adjourns to-day it will be until July 17th, in order to allow the delegates a week in which to consult their governments.

The scheme is headed "Draft of convention for the pacific settlement of international conflicts."

The first part deals with the maintenance of general peace; the second part with arbitration.

The reporter of the committee explained lengthily the motives which inspired the Drafting Committee in elaborating the scheme.

M. Bourgeois, the head of the French delegation, thanked the reporter in warm terms and congratulated him upon his remarkable exposition, which, he said, would remain an official commentary upon the provisions formulated both for the delegates and for their governments.

WANT AMERICAN GOODS.

A GENERAL DESIRE FOR THEM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Washington, D. C., July 7.—A study of the details of exports from the United States during the fiscal year just ended, the Bureau of Statistics says, shows that nearly every part of the world has evinced an increased desire for American products. Europe is the only part of the world which has failed to increase the amount of money paid to us for our products and this, the bureau says, is due solely to the plentiful supply of bread-stuffs in that part of the world in 1898 as compared with 1898 and the consequent decrease in price paid per bushel.

To Asia, to Africa, to South America, to Mexico, to Canada, and to the Hawaiian Islands and Oceania our sales have increased in quantity and value as compared with the phenomenal year 1898.

DIED IN BALTIMORE.

CITIZEN OF DANVILLE, WHO WENT FROM NORFOLK.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)

Baltimore, Md., July 7.—P. H. Dalton, of Danville, Va., died about 6 o'clock last evening at Ganzhorn's City Hotel. Dr. Alexander Hill, 223 North Calvert street, who was called in early in the day to attend Mr. Dalton, said that death was caused by congestion of the brain.

Mr. Dalton, accompanied by a friend, Mr. A. H. Galloway, of Winston, N. C., arrived in Baltimore by boat early yesterday morning. They came from Norfolk and Mr. Dalton was sick when he reached the hotel. He was unmarried, about thirty years of age, and a druggist at Danville.

Mr. Dalton was a member of the Order of Elks, and the local lodge had the body prepared for burial.

New Methods in Advertising.

Railway companies are adopting new and unique methods of advertising, as is demonstrated by the publication in the Four Track Series of the New York Central Road, of what is now becoming widely known and somewhat famous, "A Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard, which itself is a peculiar and interesting publication as relating to magazines of the present day.

This article is attracting widespread attention, and has been answered by a writer in "The Mirror," published at St. Louis, under date of June 15, 1899, entitled "A Message to Hubbard," which gives the other side of the American employe.

The Southern Railway, the leading Southern system, spreading from Washington to the Mississippi river, and gridironing the South, and the only line to "The Land of the Sky," a section of western North Carolina, has also issued a publication out of the ordinary, in the shape of an attractive booklet entitled "A Night on Mount Mitchell," by Henry Litchfield West, one of the leading editorial and political writers of the Washington Post, a paper widely known for the ability displayed in its editorial and political columns. This story is a description of an ascension to the very top of Mount Mitchell, which is the highest mountain peak east of the Rocky Mountains, and 400 feet higher than Mount Washington, upon which has been erected a monument to Professor Mitchell, after whom the mountain is named.

The story is replete with interest, and thrilling in detailing a trip which may be taken by any traveler for health or pleasure, and reminds one of Talmadge's description of Lookout Mountain, when he stood upon its heights and delivered the following oration, which is reproduced for its graphic description of a location famous in American history:

"The carriage wound its way up, up, up. Standing there on the tip-top peak I saw five States of the Union. Scenes stupendous and overwhelming. One almost is disposed to take off his hat in the presence of what seems to be the grandest prospect of this continent. There is Missionary Ridge, the beach against which the red billows of Federal and Confederate courage surged and broke. There are the Blue Mountains of North and South Carolina. With strains of vision, there is Kentucky, there is Virginia. At our feet, Chattanooga and Chickamauga, the pronouncement of which proper names will thrill ages to come with thoughts of valor of desperation and agony. Looking each way, and any way, from the top of that mountain, earthworks, earthworks—the beautiful Tennessee winding through the valley, curling and boiling around, making letter 'S' after letter 'S' as if that letter stood for shame, that brothers should have gone into massacre with each other, while God and nations looked on. We stood on Mount Washington, and on the Sierra Nevada, and on the Alps, but I never saw so far as from the top of Lookout Mountain."

Copies of this booklet and other interesting publications on "The Land of the Sky" section and "Lookout Mountain" may be obtained from Mr. W. A. Turk, General Passenger Agent, Southern Railway, Washington, D. C.

BERKLEY.

The conference of the Chestnut Street M. E. Church met last night at 8 o'clock. Rev. R. M. Chandler, the pastor, presided, and Mr. W. B. Dougherty was elected secretary pro tem, in the absence of Mr. J. M. Gibbs.

Mr. Chandler stated that the object of the meeting was to consider Mr. E. M. Tilley's gift of $20,000 to build a church as a memorial to his deceased wife, and asked if they, as individuals, were willing to give up their present church building and accept the generous gift of Mr. Tilley and enter upon the construction of a new church. He stated that the trustees had unanimously accepted the gift and passed a resolution of thanks. Continuing, he said that now we bring the matter to you individually, and desire you to speak freely regarding it, as we want every member to be satisfied if the action of the committee is ratified by the church.

The conditions of Mr. Tilley's gift were that the church should furnish the lot on which to build and furnish the church after its completion.

He further stated, in regard to the site, that a committee appointed from the board had canvassed the town thoroughly and had obtained options upon several lots, and since the lot on the corner of Berkley avenue and Main street, owned by Mr. W. W. Robertson, could not be purchased, the one on the corner of Berkley avenue and First street was the prettiest and most central location in the city.

Captain M. C. Keeling was the first to speak. He said: There is no member who has more hallowed recollections than these sacred walls bring to me, and if I were to consult my individual feeling in the matter I should have to say no, but I realize that the spirit of progress in our town, the strides it is making commercially, are ennobling upon us and it would only be a matter of a few years when we would have to seek another site, and furthermore, while the ties of sacred memories are strong and painful to break, the young men be considered—we must build for the future, and not the present.

On motion, the gift of Mr. Tilley, with its conditions and the recommendations of the special committee were unanimously accepted.
